

Japanese Bomber, 15 Die

Inland Sea Graveyard of Wrecked, Burning Ships

From CP, AP and BUP Dispatches
AAF HEADQUARTERS, C. J. 28.—The Imperial Japanese fleet, which was fighting today as Admiral W. L. "Bull" Halsey's carrier-borne warplanes again roared into action, turning the Inland Sea of Japan into a graveyard of wrecked and burning ships, and literally blowing from the skies the Japanese fighter planes which rose to intercept them.

Caught at anchor in hastily camouflaged positions, without steam up, and trying to repair damage from previous raids, the remaining vessels of the Japanese fleet were "sitting ducks" today in Kure harbor.

It was the third heavy blow in a week, and when the Anglo-American raiders finished the attack the Japanese fleet was only a memory. Burning ships littered the harbor in every direction. Formidable battleships were sinking at anchor, or slowly turning turtle as water rushed into their stricken hulls through bomb blasted plates. On all sides the destruction of the fleet was complete, and returning pilots say that it will never be replaced.

A force of nearly two thousand planes took off from the carriers of the off-shore fleet in the murky dawn this morning. Wave after wave of bombers, fighters and fighter bombers circled the fleet, flew into formation, and then headed for the Inland Sea.

They did not catch the Japanese fleet as they were preparing for the assault was in such force that Japanese defenses were quickly overwhelmed. Some Japanese fighter planes did get into the air, firing up through the enemy's flank, but they were quickly disposed of, and then as ship after ship was hit, even the co-operatives asking that the assumptions from income and excess profits tax be continued under federal law and that a clear definition of a co-operative be prepared.

Bevin Foreign Secretary

6 Party Stalwarts Nucleus of Attlee's Labor Cabinet

By ALEX SINGLETON
LONDON, July 28.—(AP)—Prime Minister Attlee last night chose hasty Ernest Bevin, a two-fisted trade union leader, as foreign secretary of his new Labor government and his right-hand man in guiding British foreign policy through the Pacific war and a host of thorny post-war problems.

Mr. Attlee announced selection of six Labor party stalwarts as the nucleus of his cabinet and all took the oath of office this morning.

They include Hugh Dalton as Chancellor of the Exchequer, third most important post, and Herbert Morrison as lord president of the council and leader in the House of Commons.

To SPEAK PLAINLY
Mr. Bevin, who succeeds the suave Anthony Eden, had a Labor audience less than 24 hours before his appointment that he favored "blunt" language, better than "polished diplomatic phrases" in the new world of international relations, and declared the new Labor government intended to speak "plainly" to common sense of other nations.

Mr. Bevin, who was Labor minister of commerce in the late coalition cabinet, will join Mr. Attlee at the new office of "Big Three" conference at Potsdam.

The partial list of cabinet appointments was approved by the King and announced at No. 10 Downing street, included:

Goering Has Heart Attack During Storm

MANDORF, LES BAINS, Luxembourg, July 28.—(AP)—Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering suffered a heart attack during an electrical storm Thursday night and there now is a question whether he can figure in a war crimes trial.

Capt. Clint L. Miller, army surgeon at the Mandorff hospital, said that where Goering is interested, said no one could prophesy how a man under such high tension would react under the stress and excitement of a war crime trial and added "Goering is so emotionally unstable you never can tell about his type."

Capt. Miller contributed Goering's death to his fear of thunder and lightning.

Empire State Bldg. Tower Set Ablaze In Freak Accident

By FRED KERNER
NEW YORK, July 28.—(UPI)—An army bomber crashed into the top of the Empire State building at 9:45 a.m. today, killed at least 15 persons, set the tower of the 102-story building afire and scattered debris over a wide area.

Nine dead were civilian occupants of the building. Six were soldiers thought to be crew members of the plane. At least two other persons were badly burned, and about 25 more were injured during the crash.

The fire was brought under control 10 minutes later, Mayor F. H. La Guardia said.

The southbound plane struck the 34th Street side of the world's tallest building, tearing a huge hole between the 82nd and 90th floors, and scattering debris over a wide area with plane wreckage, glass and masonry.

One motor of the twin-engine B-25 apparently passed through the building to fall into the street.

By noon 11 bodies had been recovered. Eleven, burned beyond recognition, were placed on burned tables on the 76th floor, where an emergency morgue was established by Dr. Thomas A. Gonzales, chief medical examiner.

The tactics body, that of Paul Darling, of Buffalo, N.Y., was on the roof of the 72nd floor. Major Patrick A. O'Boyle, of the National Cadet Corps, was at a desk only a few feet from where the plane struck and was blown seven floors up.

Eleven floors of the building above and below the 86th floor of the towering structure were in flames and were being consumed by the building.

The building, top of which remained invisible from the street in the rain and mist, but firemen were bringing the blaze under control and had extinguished flames which sprang up in adjacent buildings.

More than an hour after the crash smoke still poured from the building. Firemen were bringing the blaze under control and had extinguished flames which sprang up in adjacent buildings.

15 Persons Die As Plane Hits N.Y. Skyscraper

Police on the 7th floor said that plane also was wrecked.

Burning gasoline poured into elevator shafts and elevator service immediately was halted above the 6th floor.

The 7th floor, where most of the fire apparently was centered, was a blazing inferno. Metal elevator doors were torn out of place and parts of the plane, which broke through windows, fell into the shafts of the lower group of elevators. These elevators were filled with gasoline, flames, smoke and water.

Police said a number of officers on the 7th floor were unharmed, as many employees there had fled.

Half a dozen or more of the injured were reported in critical condition.

SEVERELY BURNED

One of three, Michel Schmitt, 35, operator of the "observation" elevator which carries passengers up the building's tower—originally designed as a dirigible mooring post—sustained severe burns and bruises and probable fractures.

Others reported injured were elevator operator Kay Oliver and a John Tate. Both were on the 7th floor and were reported badly burned.

One "observation" car was missing and was believed to have fallen several stories to the foot of a shaft. Its operator and four to eight passengers were believed aboard.

Firemen, summoned by a "full" alarm signal, immediately were spreading to adjacent buildings under control.

Top of the Empire State was not seen from the street as dense fog and smoke veiled about it.

"TERRIFIC" BLAST

Police said a "terrific" explosion followed the crash and an eyewitness, Edward Hughes of Louisville, Ky., said smoke poured from three or four stories at the top of the building.

It appeared the plane had struck the 8th of the building's 102 stories.

FUNNY BUSINESS—'Frankly, I think you're over-equipped!'

Five women and 34th street stands 1250 feet high.

Scene: screaming ambulances and police cars converged through rainy midtown New York to the scene. Old nearby buildings already were aflame minutes after the crash.

HEARD PLANE COMING

James W. Irwin, manager consultant and former managing editor of the Chicago Herald Examiner, who had offices on the 7th floor of the building said he heard the plane coming through the fog and that it struck the north side of the building above 34th street.

Mr. Irwin said that the hall on the 7th floor was filled with flaming gasoline and fumes and that the tall elevator bank in the building was out of commission so that people served by that bank could not leave.

Mr. Irwin said he could not say whether anyone in the building was coming from the plane, a neighborhood office with the doors closed to keep the fumes out.

PLANE WAS ON FIRE

Frank A. Sieverman, who saw the accident from the window of his office at 40 East 34th Street, said smoke was coming from the plane just before it struck the building.

"The plane crashed near the top floors of the building with a stupor and an immediate explosion," Sieverman said. "Parts of it fell into the street."

The plane was obviously out of control and flying extremely low. As it neared the building, the pilot seemed to try and veer away, but it struck squarely, it did not tell the type of plane and did not see any occupants."

Mr. Aubrey Condit, an army pilot who was on the 5th floor of 500 Fifth Avenue, saw the plane strike the building. He said it was a "B-25 Mitchell."

"B-25 FIRE"

Ran Loman, sports announcer for radio station WJLB, saw the crash when his automobile stopped for a traffic light at 27th Street and Fifth Avenue.

He said the plane fell straight down Fifth Avenue and into the building, striking four or five stories below the observation tower, where, had the weather not been inclement, scores of sight-seers would have been viewing the city.

"There was the damndest ball of fire you ever saw," Loman said. "It was a tremendous big burst of flame. A wing of the plane shot out to the left toward Madison Avenue. The remainder of the plane struck right in the building."

"Almost two floors of the entire width of the building burst into flame. It was an inferno."

Japanese Fleet Is Knocked Out By Aerial Blows

Anti-aircraft fire died down, and the last phases of the attack were carried out against practically no opposition.

HARBOR IN FLAMES

The harbor is still a mass of flames, and the waters are lit from miles with flaming bombs and debris of the shattered ships.

The scene is around the harbor beyond description, and all that remains of what was once the third mightiest navy force in the world is a mass of twisted, broken and blistered hulks.

Planes returning from the raid reported that among the latest victims of their flaming attack was the 29,000-ton battleship Hiei, a converted warship with a flight deck for seaplanes. The Hiei had been reported damaged in earlier raids, and is now reported sunk.

DEVASTATING ATTACK

The attack was devastating from every angle, and Japan is now left without a single heavy warship fit for action. Admiral Halsey's hard-hitting Allied fleet of 11 battleships, 20 cruisers, including three battlecruisers, 10 destroyers and 100 warships, has now added to this total in practically annihilating the Japanese Imperial Fleet.

Kure harbor was a seething sea of flames following the attack as fires raged unchecked and spurting columns of black smoke rose into the air. It was the first time what was once the third mightiest fleet in the world.

Every one of the ten battleships which Japan had at the time she launched the war in the Pacific by the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor is now sunk or out of action for a long time. The Japanese fleet will never sail the seas again in any capacity.

KNOCKED OUT 78 SHIPS

In the 13 consecutive days in which Admiral Halsey's command has provided virtually unopposed in Japanese home waters, his ships have sunk 78 Japanese ships, including 10 battleships, 20 cruisers, 10 destroyers and 100 warships.

PATRIOTISM PAYS OFF—Peggy Knudsen was hostess in the Stage Door Canteen in New York when a stage producer "discovered" her.

Now she's in Warner's "Shadow of a Woman" not only struck the Inland Sea and Kure, but failed out over the southern island of Shikoku, battering into flames factories and shipping. Reports from the fleet said east-central Honshu's air bases also were under attack.

BLAST JAP PLANES

In order to bore into the heart of the Japanese fleet, the swarms of Allied carrier planes, knocked down any Japanese planes which came out of hiding and tried to ward off the invasion blows.

The enemy fighters that came out to meet today's raiders gradually dwindled as the attack continued.

Military observers say the great Allied fleet now has finished the job it started out to do, to completely annihilate the Japanese navy. They also say the hopes for an early peace have been increased by the devastating blows to the Japanese fleet.

ADMIT SERIOUSNESS

The Japanese themselves admit the seriousness of the heavy Allied blows. Radio Tokyo says the rise of the Imperial Japanese navy actually hangs in the balance.

Baron Suzuki, Japanese premier, is scheduled to deliver a pep talk to the Japanese people sometime today. Tokyo says Suzuki will address a grand rally which has been given the impressive title of "Survival for the decisive battle."

The Allies say Japan's war lords were not expected to accept the surrender terms, but the Big Three declared the proclamation to the people, and they hope to get the Japanese people stirred up enough to demand a government that will accept unconditional surrender instead of absolute destruction.

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

There is an old saying to the effect that to the victor belong the spoils. In sports, music, art, theatre, business, industry, in fact, in every vocation the victor wears the laurels. In any activity it is the ability to come through in the pinches that makes a person stand out from his fellows, and to lay the foundation for a greater and more successful career. It was the capacity to rise to great heights under strain and stress that made Bobby Jones the greatest of all time. In his prime "Big B" could drop the first two sets and the first few games of the third set, and still win almost as he pleased. Babe Ruth could step up to the plate, point his bat to a spot in the bleachers, and then pole out a homer with the subliminal landing in the exact spot to which he had planned.

JOHN OLIVER

In music there are many instances of conductors learning the art of the baton. In sports, music, art, or symphonic score, the conductor is the one who is to be followed. Babe Ruth could step up to the plate, point his bat to a spot in the bleachers, and then pole out a homer with the subliminal landing in the exact spot to which he had planned.

This comes back to a reference to a young Edmonton singer who has been carving out an impressive career for herself this summer at Vancouver, namely, Shirley Neher. At 24 she has a voice that is a rare blend of power and grace, and she has stepped into the leading part in a new opera production and scored an unqualified success.

The Theatre Under the Stars, which produces a series of light operas in Stanley Park each year, was enriched at the close of the season by Miss Neher's talent. She appeared in "The Fish King," "Milk and Honey," and "Milk and Honey." This came to the production of Victor Herbert's "Milk and Honey," which is a theatre-going of yesterday stands the realm of light opera. It is a scintillating score and the comedy made famous by Fred Stone and Dave Montgomery. A young singer, Miss Neher, was cast in the leading role of Gretchen.

Miss Neher was unable to appear with only 24 hours to go. She stepped into the breach and "gave a fine performance," singing some of the most beautiful songs of the world. When Victor Herbert's "Milk and Honey" was first produced, it was a "magnificent success" from every viewpoint. The same paper, in further commenting on the performance, stated that "Truman of the theatre was Shirley Neher." It is a pity that she is not in Vancouver, but her interpretation of the role of Gretchen is a masterpiece.

Miss Neher was unable to appear with only 24 hours to go. She stepped into the breach and "gave a fine performance," singing some of the most beautiful songs of the world. Veteran Northland Flier Amazed

He Wouldn't Believe It

At Huge Howard Hughes Airplane

Grant McConachie, youthful manager of CP Airlines' Western Canada division, and a former pilot of the northwest, has seen and flown a land airplane, but when he took a tandem ride at the huge flying boat just under construction at Howard Hughes Plant in Los Angeles he just said: "There just isn't such an airplane."

Recently returned from a trip down the west coast, where he visited and inspected many new and novel types of aircraft under construction for post-war flying, McConachie declared that the Howard Hughes flying boat is really hard to believe.

"It will carry 120 fully equipped troops from San Francisco to Honolulu, a distance of 2,400 miles, and it will be able to take the weight when completed. It is costing $22,000,000 and is of wood construction throughout," the Edmonton official said.

Another thrill experienced by McConachie on his recent tour of factories, was piloting personally one of Lockheed's huge KC-130A transport planes.

"I flew the Constellation for two hours out over the Pacific ocean. It is a wonderful machine. I could see the horizon in less than six hours with that ship. It carries 40 passengers and flies at 30 miles an hour," he said.

McConachie feels that Constellation, or other four-engine aircraft will be used on long haul passenger runs in Western Canada in the post-war years.

Twelve-engine Lockheed Douglas, the world's largest passenger aircraft for Northwest Canada, took flight from Vancouver, B.C., and Joseph Peller, 26, two Windsor youths who escaped from Waterloo county jail a week ago, said in interviews here yesterday they hoped their sons would surrender to police and "take their medicine."

Laurel was awaiting trial yesterday for crimes committed in the Windsor area.

Winnipeg, July 28.—(CP)—Ornamental and figure swimming is fast gaining popularity in Canada. Harold W. Daly of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, said yesterday:

Several years ago, he said, the sport was known only in Montreal, but now it has spread to Toronto, Ottawa, Peterborough, Ont., Quebec, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, and Edmonton.

For a number of years now, a championship entirely devoted to the art has been held in Montreal and many are planned in the near future.

Daly said ornamental and figure swimming has grown popular because many people can participate in it than in competitive swimming, and larger audiences.

The Alberta branch of the national association is doing all it can to encourage the sport, he said. It has issued every championship meet held in the province must have at least 100 spectators and figure event. A brochure is being compiled by the national association for those interested. It will contain instructions and other information.

Daly said there is a possibility the 1946 Dominion swimming championships will be held before the year's end. They were originally scheduled for Vancouver, but cancelled recently due to travel restrictions.

But British Remain on Alert

Werewolf Movement "Destroyed"

21st ARMY GROUP, Germany, July 28.—(AP)—British intelligence officers said yesterday that the German Werewolf movement had been "destroyed," but that British troops would continue to carry on.

"The present vigilance and precautionary measures will not be relaxed," said an announcement.

"The main preoccupation of Germans today is to obtain necessary means of existence," a staff officer declared. "If in the more rigorous winter months these means are not forthcoming, it is not impossible that the German people will resort to desperate measures to exploit dissatisfaction and organize a revolution which favors clandestine activity. It is clearly untrue to assume the state of the country may not undergo a radical change."

Mulching Keeps Plants in Moisture During Hot, Summer Dry Spells

Dry straw makes an excellent mulch around tomatoes, conserving moisture in the soil.

By HENRY L. PREE

"Summer mulching" was the topic under discussion at the last meeting of our local men's garden club. There were varied and sundry reasons given why a mulch should or should not be applied to ground about vegetables, but everyone agreed that humus in any form, but especially manure, incorporated in the soil, is a fundamental principle of soil preparation, because it does improve the soil and also conserves moisture.

Every growing plant takes moisture from the soil. When drought conditions exist, there is an insufficient moisture in the soil in most localities. Consequently, every weed and every vegetable plant that should have been thinned out is taking a share of the moisture supply and should be removed immediately and placed in the compost pile.

Mulch may be of any loose material such as peat, manure, hay, straw, grass clippings and weeds cut before they have gone to seed. It has been used by gardeners for years and is most satisfactory. Fresh grass clippings should be spread thinly, as they mat down, heat quickly and become moldy. Do not skip on the mulching material. If the weeds once get a start through the mulch you will be in for the tedious job of weeding again. To prevent this, it will take about three inches of grass clippings or straw manure, two inches of peatmoss, or about six inches of straw or hay.

Tomatoes, potatoes, corn, strawberries, melons, squash, pumpkins and ground, will please you with a better harvest if you favor them with a mulch. Tests made at experimental stations indicate that mulching makes more fertilizer available to the plants and keeps the soil from becoming excessively hot during the heated part of the day. Claim is made that mulching will prevent tomatoes from cracking, because it makes for a uniform soil condition.

Clean straw spread between strawberry rows performs the additional function of keeping the ripening berries off the ground and makes plants less liable to mildew or mold.

It must be remembered that mulch should not be applied until after the soil about the plants has been cultivated and firmed, and if dry, watered well.

The Bulletin's SPORTS SHOW

By Don Killips

The City Senior Baseball League standing might be in for a slight going over this week-end with the third place Arrows killed for both games at Fenwick Park.

The situation shaped up as a serious one for the bumen. They have a chance to creep up close behind the Signals by copying both, but on the other hand might find themselves sitting on the bottom.

The Dodgers have been packed a lot of power in their attack lately and are given a good chance to whittle the boys who have lost four of their five starts down to their own size when the two clash tonight.

Low tonight would be a lot too pleasant for the Arrows, however, as they come up against the Signals and probably beat them tomorrow afternoon.

One of the first plays a baseball fan would ever want to witness was the superior play executed by South last night to mark up the winning run in the junior game at the Stadium.

With the deciding run on third and only one out, catcher Paul Martel signalled for a hunt by Don Winfield. Winfield laid down a perfect one to force the play in front and allow Owen McDowell to cross the plate from third.

The Civil Service Tennis Tournament which opens today shows up as one of the best staged by the club. The men's singles is a hard-fought affair with some highly rated players. The women's singles is also a hard-fought affair.

In the ladies singles Betty Hall was to be defeated last night of last year, but was outplayed by the other girls.

With Chicago Cubs spending an estimated $100,000 for Hank Bonebrake and Hal Newhouse, the Detroit Tigers have a hard time of it.

Tennis Tourney To Start Today At Civil Service

The annual tournament of the Civil Service Tennis Club gets underway this year on Saturday, July 28. This popular club, located on the Parliament buildings grounds, has been enjoying another successful season.

Arrows-Dodgers Clash Tonight

The two teams are scheduled in two City Senior Baseball League games over the weekend at Fenwick Park. Tonight they meet the Dodgers.

Canadians Play EAC Tomorrow

Canadians and Americans are scheduled to play a game of tennis at the EAC tomorrow.

Walk-Rites and Pats Draw In Girls' Fastball Fixture

Murray Saldman's Walk-Rites snapped their long losing streak by beating the Rams from behind to lead Clark Hollingsworth's Army and Navy Pats to a 6-6 draw in a City Girls' Fastball League fixture last night at Kingsway Park.

At the start it looked like the Pats were going to have things their own way as they jumped in a surer lead in the opening frame.

responsible for the two Walk-Rites runs in the seventh inning that enabled them to tie the score. The look advantage of three errors together with a single by Royce, that did the trick.

BAD LUCK

"WE is all in fo' bad luck to-day," remarked Gogo as he emptied a thimble of water into the hot water tank on the Teenie Weenie kitchen stove.

"How's that?" asked the Old Soldier, who was painting the repaired woodwork in the kitchen after the baseball had crashed through the roof and wrecked the tiny room.

"When Ah was gettin' dis thimble of watah down at de creek Ah done saw a crawfish ovah mah left shouldah and dat's a powerful bad luck sign," answered Gogo.

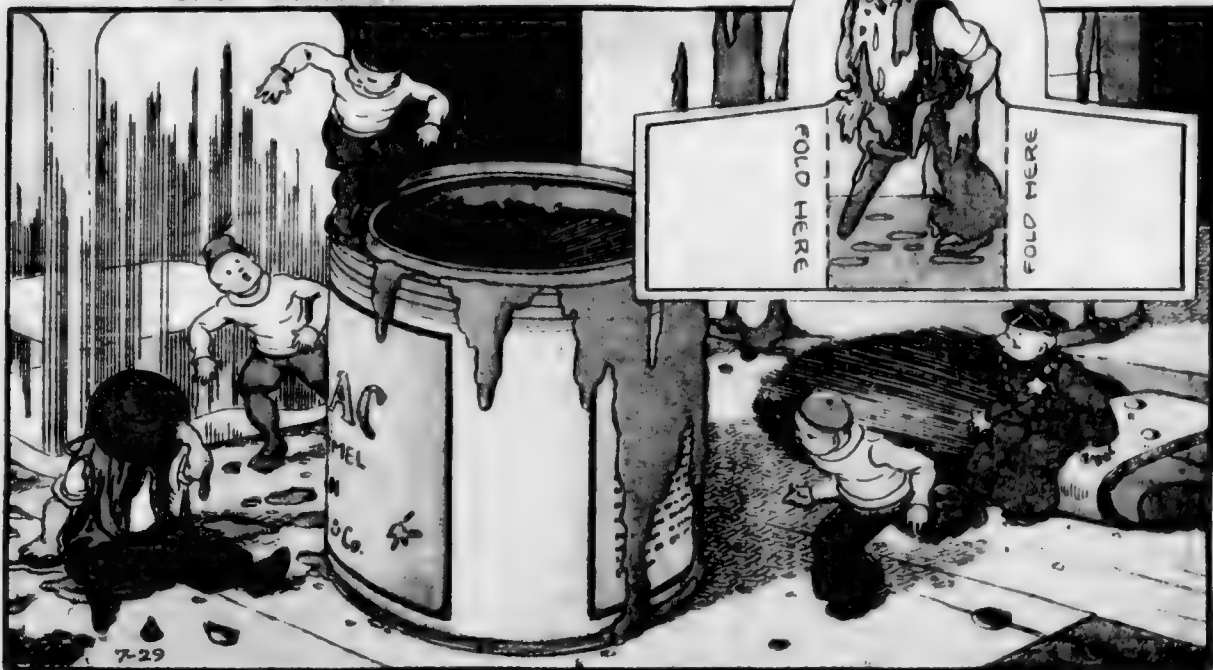

"That's sonsense!" exploded the Old Soldier. "You don't want to pay any attention to foolish signs like that."

"Yes, sah," was all Gogo said, but it was plain to see that the Old Soldier's remark had not shaken the little chap's belief in the unlucky sign.

The day proved to be a very unlucky one, but whether it was due to Gogo's having seen the crawfish over his left shoulder is entirely a matter of whether one believes in signs or not. The first misfortune was when one of the Teenie Weenie children fell into an old bottle of ink and nearly drowned before it was fished out. A little later the Chinaman fell over the half of an English walnut shell which he used for a clothes basket and which skinned his shin badly. Then, while the Cook was slicing a strawberry for lunch, he cut his thumb and in her hurry to get a clean cloth for bandaging the cut, the Lady of Fashion slipped on the stairs and had a nasty run in her stocking. While the General was eating his lunch, he choked on a strawberry seed and had to be pounded on the back. During that excitement, three plates were knocked off the table and broken—they were Teenie Weenie Doulton plates, too.

Fortunately, nothing dreadful happened for almost an hour after lunch—and then the Old Soldier upset the last of his paint. That was a most unfortunate thing, for he had had just enough paint to finish his work and now he would have to go way over to Uncle Jimmy's shop to get more. A number of the Teenie Weenies went along with the Old Soldier, since it would take several of the little men to pry off the lid on the paint can. However, the lid didn't fit tightly and they soon lifted it off and the Duncie scooped up an acorn bucket of paint. Just as he leaned down to pass it to the Old Soldier, his foot slipped on the rim of the can and the bucket dropped upside down on the head of the Old Soldier, completely bathing him in paint.

No wonder Gogo believes in signs!
